

20 INT. LIVING ROOM -- MOMENTS LATER

20

Moments later. Back in the living room...

Officer Dimarco's young widow, DONNA, is talking quietly to FAMILY and FRIENDS. She's still in pain.

Monk steps up. He, too, speaks quietly... gently...

MONK

(almost a whisper)

Mrs. Dimarco? I'm sorry for your loss. My name is Adrian Monk. I'm a former detective.

(catching himself)

Actually, I'm a former former Detective.

DONNA DIMARCO

Thank you. Thank you for coming. Did you work with Russell?

MONK

I only met him once. At the station. We talked about computers.

(then)

I do have a couple of questions. Is this a bad time?

DONNA DIMARCO

Is this a bad time?

MONK

It'll just take a second. Were you and Russell planning a vacation?

DONNA DIMARCO

Yes.

MONK

To the Cayman Islands?

DONNA DIMARCO

That's right.

MONK

Was that his idea? To go to the Caymans?

DONNA DIMARCO

He surprised me. He bought the tickets last week.

MONK

Last week.

(then)

Why the Cayman Islands? Did he have a bank account there?

DONNA DIMARCO

A bank account..?

During this, several mourners- including Det. Doyle and Sgt. Weaver- gather and listen.

DET. DOYLE

Monk. What are you doing?

MONK

I'm paying my respects.
(resuming, to Donna)

He was a great guy. We're all gonna miss him.

(then)

Did he ever say anything about offshore accounts or hiding money?

DONNA DIMARCO

What are you saying? Are you accusing Russell of something?

1/END

NEARBY: Sgt. Weaver steps up to Stottlemeyer and Disher.

SGT. WEAVER

(Furious)

Captain. I'm sorry. But if you don't get rid of him, we're gonna do it.

Weaver's right. Stottlemeyer sighs.

CAPT. STOTTLEMEYER

I'll take care of it.

Stottlemeyer crosses to Monk. He pulls Monk away from the widow, and leads him toward the door, as...

CAPT. STOTTLEMEYER (CONT'D)

Monk. I want to show you something.

MONK

What is it?

CAPT. STOTTLEMEYER

It's outside.
